NBC Announces New Technologist Designation.

Tallahassee, Florida: The National Board for Certification in Dental Laboratory Technology (NBC) approved the new Technologist designation.

“Creating the CDT Technologist designation will help dental technicians in the United States meet the globally recognized level of a Registered Dental Technologist (RDT) and prepare for the future trends in the dental technology profession.”, said NBC Trust Chair, Bart Donnell, CDT.

Currently more than 6,700 dental technicians hold the designation of Certified Dental Technician (CDT) awarded by the National Board for Certification in Dental Laboratory Technology. NBC was formed in 1955 as an independent certification organization dedicated to improving the quality of dental laboratory technology through voluntary testing and certification of dental laboratory technicians.

There are criteria that a Certified Dental Technician must meet in order to qualify for the Technologist designation. For an application or more information about the Technologist designation or for information on becoming certified in dental technology, please go to the NBC website at www.NBCCERT.org, send an e-mail to cert@nbccert.org or contact the NBC office at (800) 684-5310.
